City Financial Report Cites Errors, Need Of New Revenues

Salem is "faced with a general fund operating deficit by the end of the current fiscal year unless retrenchments are made in the expenditure appropriation adopted by Council or additional revenues are provided from some local source."

This was the warning contained in the 91-page report presented Monday evening by representatives of the Ohio Public Expenditure Council to members of the Manufacturers Association which met in the Lape Hotel.

The Ohio Public Expenditure Council, a private organization dedicated to making free fiscal surveys of local governments and schools systems, was invited to make a study of the city's financial situation in May and presented its first report to city officials, Chamber of Commerce and other interested persons at a noon meeting Monday at the Lape Hotel.

E. W. Wolfe, executive director of the organization, D. H. Sutton, research director, and Charles E. Swope presented the organization's findings.

The report states that in the opinion of the survey staff the present fiscal problems of Salem represent "the accumulated consequences of truant fiscal management, the absence of proper expenditure controls, and inadequate revenues to meet a city operating program after the accumulated general fund reserves had been transferred to meet contract construction costs on the new city hall and the payment of interests on special assessment notes which should have been converted into bonds nearly three years ago."

Mr. Sutton, reviewing the report, said that past history showed that city officials have adopted general fund expenditure appropriations clearly in excess of the estimated revenues to be received for the fiscal year.

Contracts for city hall construction were let when the funds were neither on hand nor in the process of collection to meet these anticipated expenditures. Unvoted general obligation bonds were then issued inside the 10-mill tax limitation, to supplement the city general fund transfers, in order that revenues might be provided for the new city hall. This action further reduced the income available from tax levies for city operation inside the 10-mill operation, Mr. Sutton said.

To further complicate the situation, he said, municipal officials early this year, transferred the police salaries—previously paid from the parking meter fund—to the city general fund without authorizing a corresponding transfer of parking meter collections.

Mr. Suton stated that in addition to these fiscal difficulties, the city maintains municipal sewage disposal services without the imposition of a sewer rental service charge. It is common practice, he said, for cities maintaining sewage disposal services to exact sewer rental charges.

An increase from the proceeds of the general property tax collections, due to the recently concluded re-appraisals of property in the county, is anticipated, Mr. Sutton said, but such relief is not expected until sometime in 1953.

In the meantime, he went on, city officials should cease the practice of crediting property revenues to the city general fund which have been levied for the police pension, firemen's pension and bond retirement funds.

City Council should stop the practice of transferring city general fund revenues to funds designated for debt retirement, municipal construction and civic improvement projects.

Much of the present financial difficulty here, he said, is due to the fact that Council transferred $85,500 of the accumulated reserves in the general fund to the city hall construction fund within the last three fiscal years.

The issuance of unvoted general obligation bonds within the 10-mill tax limitation also should be discontinued by city officials except to meet unanticipated emergency needs, he said.

During 1950, Council authorized the issuance of $70,000 in general obligation bond principal to supplement a previously voted bond issue, and the city general fund transfers, for the construction of the new city hall.

At the present time, he went on, a debt service levy of 0.20 mills is imposed to meet the annual interest and principal costs. If those bonds had not been issued, he concluded, that millage would have been available for municipal operating purposes.

In winding up his explanations, Mr. Sutton said that the city has received its proper share of the local government fund, allocated by the Columbiana County Budget Commission. Based on present income sources and expenditure levels as shown by the appropriation adopted for 1952, the city general fund should have an estimated deficit of more than $11,000 by Jan. 1, 1953.

However, he stated, if the parking meter collections are credited to the general fund and if a sewer rental charge is enacted and enforced, the general fund should have a substantial cash balance by the end of the year.

If additional general fund obligations are incurred as the result of employing additional personnel, granting pay raises to city employes or other measures, new revenues must be provided if a deficit is to be avoided, he said.

Mr. Sutton concluded that the city's financial picture was not alarming in any respect but that financial practices, such as those contained in the report, must be discontinued if future operating deficiencies are to be avoided.

Old City Hall Disappearing From Scene

Salem's abandoned 103-year-old City Hall, one of Salem's distinctive landmarks, is slowly fading into oblivion. The wrecker's axe has made the most of the large wooden structure which served the city for so many years. Only the front part of the building which sheltered the fire station remains, as shown in the above picture. City Council approved the razing of the old hall after the new municipal building was erected on South Broadway. To what use the old city hall site will be put remains to be decided, possibly by court action.

2nd Strongest California Quake Leaves 11 Dead

Damage To Run Into Millions; Tehachapi Feels Brunt Of Blow

TEHACHAPI, Calif. (AP)—With 11 persons dead and more than 25 injured, Southern California today began counting the cost of the second strongest earthquake in the state's recorded history.

Focal point of the death and ruin was this farming community of 2,000 on the edge of the Mojave Desert, which caught the full fury of the bucking, rumbling upheaval that struck in the dark hour before dawn yesterday.

But here, as in other stricken areas, officials said it was too early to put a dollar sign on damage, which appears certain to mount into millions.

Centered In Mountains

Scientists calculated that the quake, felt from San Francisco to the Mexican border, centered in the rugged Tehachapi Mountains, 10 miles south of here.

Ten persons, nine of them children, died in this town as the walls came tumbling down. The 11th was crushed in the collapse of a guest house roof at a nearby ranch. Twenty-five persons required hospitalization.

Virtually every large business building here was damaged. The main street, deep in rubble, looked like a scene from a bombed-out city.

25% Total Loss

The Red Cross reported 31 business houses suffered major damage, with 25 per cent a total loss. Fifteen homes were destroyed, 53 severely damaged and nearly 100 incurred minor damage.

About 100 persons took shelter at a Red Cross station in a city park last night, but the relief organization said there are ample facilities to care for homeless

Gov. Earl Warren declared after an inspection of the scene late yesterday that it would not be necessary to declare a state of emergency.

At the nearby Women's State Prison 417 inmates spent the night in tents on the grounds after of-

Barkley Quits As Candidate For Democratic Nomination

CHICAGO (AP) — Vice President Alben W. Barkley withdrew suddenly last night from the Democratic presidential nomination race with a bitter attack on the "self-anointed political labor leaders" who had refused him their support.

Until his surprise announcement, he had been considered one of the top contenders at the party's national convention.

The Kentucky delegation, with its 26 votes pledged to him, said it was "shocked and grieved" at the withdrawal.

A member of the delegation predicted the state's votes may go to Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois on the first ballot.

The Kentuckians all but walked out on the convention last night after Barkley quit the race. They met briefly, agreed to cast their votes as a unit and then adjourned until called together again to decide on what presidential aspirant they will support.

May Back Stevenson

Mrs. Susan Pollard, national committeewoman from Lawrenceburg, Ky., told a newsman, "There is a strong possibility we will vote for Stevenson on the first ballot."

Barkley withdrew from the race after missing his first keynote session in more than 30 years. His statement came a day after high CIO and AFL officials withheld their support on the ground that the 74-year-old Kentuckian was too old to make a successful race.

Barkley, evidently deeply hurt, said in a statement he had never believed a single group would dominate a great political party.

"But now," he said, "certain self-appointed political labor leaders have taken it upon themselves to announce their opposition to me as the Democratic nominee for President."

These labor leaders, he said, had

Reds Recapture Old Baldy Crest

Furious Fighting Enters Fifth Day

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Chinese infantrymen today recaptured the crest of Old Baldy in the fifth day of a seesaw battle that has cost the Reds more than 1,000 casualties.

United Nations infantrymen still held the Southeast slope of the bitterly contested hill west of Chorwon on the Korean Western Front. Baldy overlooks both the U. N. and Communist main lines of defense.

Associated Press correspondent George McArthur at the front said about 200 Chinese pushed through heavy U. N. tank and artillery fire and retook the shell-scarred height.

U. N. troops reached the top at 2:30 a. m. but were forced to pull back down at 9:30 a. m. in the face of counter-attacking Chinese and heavy Red artillery fire.

Once the Chinese had regained the top of Old Baldy, McArthur reported, U. S. Fifth Air Force planes plastered the area with flaming gasoline. U. N. tanks and artillery shelled the area with a tremendous barrage.

Chinese artillery knocked out three tanks in the morning fighting.

Heat Wave Continues Unbroken

Salemites, who have faint recollections of the 1950 "big snow," sweated it out again today as the mercury soared back into the high 90's. It was hot and muggy.

Despite recent rains, the midsummer hea twave remained unbroken and the weatherman's prediction was mostly fair and warm. Temperatures will average well above normal for the remainder of the week.

Scattered thundershowers are indicated for Thursday and Saturday.

Today's high was expected to be between 93 and 98—not much different than the recent hot days.

Parks and lakes have been enjoying record crowds this season due to the unbroken warm meather.

An electrical storm hit the Cleveland area last night, causing considerable damage.

Delegates Swing Toward Draft Of Adlai Stevenson

Loyalty Rule Passed Late At Night With No Floor Roll Call

BULLETIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Gov. Henry F. Schricker of Indiana said today Gov. Adlai Stevenson has informed him that if the Democratic presidential nomination is offered "he couldn't turn it down."

Rep. Cox D-Ga. said it is possible that the name of Sen. Richard Russell for president "may not be put in nomination."

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago —Angry Southern rumbling sover a "loyalty pledge" adopted by the Democratic national convention shook the party conclave today. Momentarily, contention over the presidential nomination dropped into the background.

Sentiment apparently was sweeping increasingly toward reluctant, Bible-quoting Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois. This growing draft movement was reported to be one of the reasons why Vice President Alben W. Barkley pulled out of the presidential race Monday night.

But the question of the moment was what kind of shape the party would be in when Stevenson, or whoever winds up with the grand prize, goes out to scrap with GOP Nominee Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency.

Holding Caucusses

Southern delegations were holding caucuses this morning in downtown hotels and other points.

Although some Southern states supported the "loyalty pledge," delegates from others were steamed up over it.

They didn't like the pledge in the first place and were hot under the collar besides over they way it was brought up after midnight and slammed through at two o'clock in the morning without a roll call vote.

During the heated debate, Sen. A. Willis Robertson of Virginia suggested to the convention that Stevenson might refuse a nomination if the party was split asunder. He said he didn't believe Stevenson would take it "on a gold platter, much less a silver one."

Ambigious in language and subject to almost any kind of interpretation, the rule said in effect that delegates must give assurance they will exert every "honorable means" to see that the convention's presidential and vice presidential nominees get on their state's ballot.

It was shoved down the throats of protesting Dixie delegations by Sen. Blair Moody of Michigan, newspaperman turned politician.

Eisenhower, Nixon To Plan Campaign Strategy Sunday

DENVER (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and his GOP vice presidential running mate, Sen. Richard M. Nixon of California, will discuss campaign plans Sunday at the general's vacation haven in the Colorado Rockies.

It will be their first get-together since they conferred briefly in Chicago after the Republican National Convention.

Sen. Fred A. Seaton, an adviser to Eisenhower at the general's headquarters here, announced today that Nixon will fly from Washington Saturday to Denver.

On Sunday Nixon will motor 72 miles to the secluded cattle ranch near Fraser, Colo., where Eisenhower has been vacationing since last Thursday. Nixon will fly Monday afternoon from Denver to Los Angeles for a brief rest in his home state before traveling to Columbus, O., to address the Ohio Republican Convention July 31.

In Los Angeles, the adjutant general of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Julian Dickenson, announced Eisehower will make his first major campaign address there before the V. F. W. National Convention opening Aug. 3.

Eisenhower also will receive the VFW's Bernard Baruch Award given the American citizen a panel of judges says has contributed the most toward fostering unity and good will among peoples of the world.

Eisenhower aides said the general and Nixon will talk over various aspects of the fall campaign, including the role the 39-year-old California senator will play.

Eisenhower will confer at the ranch tomorrow with three key supporters. They are Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania, Ralph Cake, GOP national committeeman from Oregon, and Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado.

Duff arrived in Denver late yesterday and told a news conference that "Ike will lick anyone" the Democrats nominate for President.

"The Democrats have been so long in power they have abused their power," Duff declared.

"The public is tired of them and wants a change. We've got the kind of a ticket that will assure that change."

Clevelander Gives Away $3,879,680

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 79-year-old bachelor inventor who believes "too many institutions get their money from dead men" had the fun of passing out nearly $4,000,000 at a dinner party Monday night.

Claud H. Foster, who grew up on his father's farm in the Brooklyn district of Cleveland gave Western Reserve University $517,290, university hospitals $775,936, and other Cleveland hospitals and orphanages checks ranging from $413,832 to $34,486.

The total of $3,879,680 was one of the largest single welfare gifts ever made by an individual in the history of Cleveland. The amount nearly equaled the sum Foster put into a trust fund after selling the Gabriel Mfg., Co. 27 years ago.

Rev. and Mrs. Clare Davis of Salem were among the 75 friends of Mr. Foster invited to dinner.

Rev. Davis, new pastor of the Salem Methodist Church, became acquainted with Mr. Foster while both resided in South Euclid and visited the Foster home many times.

Rev. Davis gave the invocation at the dinner. He said it was a great thrill to witness both the happiness of those receiving the gifts for their institutions and the happiness of Mr. Foster in giving away the money.

"Flying Saucers" Reported Over Washington

Air Force Probes Several Objects Spotted By Radar

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today investigated reports that several "flying saucers" had been spotted by radar virtually in its own backyard on the outskirts of the nation's capital.

Not only were unidentified objects seen on radar—indicating actual substance instead of mere light—but two airline pilots and a newsman saw eerie lights fitting the general description of flying saucers the same night.

Officials could not immediately agree on whether this was the first time radar has picked up flying saucers. Some said it was. All agreed it was unusual.

The objects also were different from the average reported saucer in that they traveled at a relatively slow speed, as well as later disclosing the customary burst that far outspeeds normal airplanes.

One thing was certain: A thorough investigation is being made by the Air Technical Intelligence Center, Wright - Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, O., which has been set up to look into flying saucer reports.

Such reports, officials had said earlier yesterday, are coming in faster than at any time since the initial flood in 1947. The current average is about 100 sightings a month.

The flying saucers over the capital were reported late yesterday, about 36 hours after the incident actualy occurred.

This is the story as pieced together from Air Force reports, persons involved, and other sources.

An operator at the Air Traffic Control Center at Washington National Airport, across the Potomac from the capital, spotted eight unidentified images on one of his radars — the area surveillance scope, with a range of possibly 70 miles.

The images were slow-moving, going probably 100 to 130 miles an hour. And they were flying in the vicinity of nearby Andrews Air Force Base.

The control center, operated by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, notified the Air Force and also asked planes in the air if they could see anything.

That was around midnight.

Capt. S. C. (Casey) Pierman of Detroit, piloting Capital Airlines Flight 807, southbound from National Airport, soon reported seeing seven objects between Washington and Martinsburg, W. Va. He said they changed pace, sometimes moving at tremendous speed, at other times hanging almost motionless.

He was careful in his report, and later in an interview, not to identify the objects as flying saucers. He described them as "like falling stars without tails" but added:

"In my years of flying I've seen a lot of falling or shooting stars . . . but these were much faster. . . They couldn't have been aircraft. They were moving too fast for that. They were about the same size as the brighter stars, and were much higher than our 6,000-foot altitude."

Another airliner, Capital - National Airlines Flight 610, also reported seeing a light following it from Herndon, Va. to within four miles of Washington.

Saul Pett, an Associated Press newsman, said he saw a "flying saucer" that same night near his home at River Edge, N. J., outside of New York.

Manufacturers Back Swim Pool Project

Members of the Manufacturers Association, at a meeting last night in the Lape Hotel, endorsed the Kiwanis Club-sponsored municipal swimming pool.

The unanimous vote followed similar action by City Council last week.

John Hochadel acted as spokesman for the Kiwanis Club delegation which attended the meeting.

The Kiwanis Club is erecting signs and making other efforts to promote the pool which, they hope, can be built at Centennial Park at the conclusion of a fund campaign which is now under way. The Kiwanians themselves donated $1,500 to get the fund started. Gail Herron is general chariman.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican presidential nominee, is scheduled to speak in Ohio during the campaign, but was unable to appear for the state convention.

Supersonic Safety In A Capsule

These pictures illustrate the working of a remarkable new method of pilot-escape from supersonic jet planes at high altitudes. They were taken during recent tests on a special track at the Naval Ordnance Test Station at El Segundo, Calif. Briefly, the device consists of a sealed cockpit capsule, containing the pilot, which is ejected from the plane during an emergency. It was tested at more than 760 miles per hour on the test carrier pictured above. The carrier is propelled over a 10,000-foot test track by rocket power. The capsule is ejected from it as it would be from a plane. Sequence pictures below show (top) the capsule-carrier speeding down test track. Then (center) capsule is ejected and a fin apparatus opens to give it stable flight. Parachutes (bottom) are released to slow down the capsule. Capsule is sealed and pressurized against adverse atmospheric conditions, floats on water and is insulated against cold weather.

Record Attendance At Ohio Fair Sought

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio is adding some extra touches to try and break all attendance records at its 1952 state fair Aug. 22-29.

Howard S. Foust, fair manager and state agriculture director, said today he expects the biggest crowd on opening day when the 50th anniversary of 4-H Clubs will be celebrated. The major highlight will be a youth parade, with floats of 12 youth organizations and marching bands. A youth talent program will precede the parade.

The second annual Pythian Day Aug. 23 is expected to bring Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters from all over Ohio.

Daily programs of music and drama, including radio and television shows, will be presented in the music hall.

'Miracle' Banned By Ohio Censors

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Ohio's movie censors has rejected the controversial movie, "The Miracle," for showing in Ohio on grounds it is "harmful."

The U. S. Supreme Court recently ruled against an action by the New York State censors in rejecting "The Miracle" on the ground it was sacrilegious.

Dr. Clyde M. Hissong, Chief Ohio movie censor, said sacrilegious grounds did not enter into the decision of Ohio's censors.

He said objectionable sections of the film "exploit immoral conduct, if not directly, certainly indirectly and by inference."

Gov. Stevenson Draft Gains Ohio Support

CHICAGO (AP)—Strong sentiment for a "draft" of Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson as the party's presidential nominee developed today in Ohio's delegation to the Democratic convention.

It followed the withdrawal of Vice President Alben Barkley of Kentucky from the list of presidential aspirants.

Most of the Stevenson sentiment appeared among delegates pledged to ex-Sen. Robert J. Bulkley on the first ballot, the other half is pledged to Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee .

Two Cleveland delegates said a lot of Bulkley followers are ready to swing to Stevenson on the second ballot. They were Ray T. Miller, Cuyahoga County chairman, and Mayor Thomas A. Burke.

They didn't say how many delegates stand ready to vote for Stevenson, who has said repeatedly he doesn't want the nomination but has not closed the door to acceptance.

One report said the entire Cleveland delegation favored Stevenson. They carry eight votes if Bulkley goes along. Bulkley and Burke are delegates-at-large and have only a half vote each.

Kefauver delegates indicated generally they intended to stick until their favorite appears out of the race. Some have expressed a liking for Stevenson without saying they would switch.

Two Bulkley delegates-at - large have said they would vote for Averell Harriman of New York, mutual security administrator, for Joseph E. Bowman of Columbus and George M. Harrison of Cincinnati.

Pickets Block Workers At Timken Plants

CANTON, O. (AP)—Timken Roller Bearing Co. admitted today it was "virtually blanked out" in an attempt to persuade some of its 12,700 employes here and in Columbus and Zanesville to pass CIO United Steelworkers picket lines.

A few employes tried to cross the lines Monday but "were virtually blanked out," reported A. M. Donze, vice president in charge of manufacturing.

The union said it had 1,500 pickets on duty Monday and only salaried workers entered the two plants here which employ 8,600. The Timken strike in Canton started Saturday midnight.

In Columbus, with 3,800 Timken workers affected, and in Zanesville, where Timken's plant has about 300 workers, all operations were halted, the company said. The union struck in those cities Friday midnight.

The Wooster tube mill, with 250 employes, and Mount Vernon rock bit plant, with 23, are covered by the same contract as the struck plants, but operations continued at both places and there was no picketing.

Paul E. McCaulley, 48, of East Sparta, brother of Robert J. McCaulley, president of the steelworkers' Timken local here, was knocked down by an automobile while picketing the Gambrinus plant but escaped with cuts and bruises.

There has been no move to renew negotiations in the dispute. Main issues are the union shop, a USW demand for 17½ cents an hour more pay for all workers, and a union request for a change in seniority policy whereby employes lose seniority through transfer from one department to another.

In the early days of the United States, its citizens are believed to have eaten about 300 pounds of meat a year says the National Geographic Society.

ANTI-KIDNAP DEFENSE—West Berlin police have erected steel road barriers at 119 crossing points along the city's East-West border to prevent further kidnaping raids by East German Communist agents. Reds had boasted nothing could stop them if they wanted to "get" any Western agent. Above, a West German policeman supervises laborers erecting one of the barricades on an American sector street. Researchers Open Polio Doors

It may seem to many people that little progress has been made by research workers in their attempts to conquer the dread disease polio.

This, however, is not the case, and much information is becoming available which is opening new doors and which may eventually lead to more satisfactory methods of preventing this disease, and of treating it.

A summary of a few of the developments of recent years gives great hope for this brighter future, even though just how some of these facts can be used in a practical way is not yet entirely clear.

For example, it is now realized that when a severe case of polio has been correctly diagnosed, it is already late in the course of the disease.

It is also realized that the virus which causes polio does not necessarily attack the nervous system and cause paralysis, and that in fact, many have the disease without ever having any nervous or muscular symptoms. Obviously, this may eventually lead to some important changes in treatment, or prevention.

Another important research development lies in the recent discovery that the virus can be grown in a tissue-culture test tube, and that much work can be done with the virus in this manner which formerly could be performed only by using monkeys as experimental animals.

This will make easier and less expensive many studies which may have an important bearing on the disease.

One thing which is badly needed is a test which will make it possible to diagnose polio early and in those patients who do not have any nervous symptoms as well as in those who do.

For at least 35 years research workers have been trying to develop such a test, and even though this has not yet come, their efforts will surely be crowned with success sometime. When a test is perfected, it will permit many other forward steps to be taken.

For many years it has been thought by close observers of polio that excessive physical exertion, fatigue, or some other form of stress might exert an unfavorable action on the disease.

In one report, 411 patients with polio from three epidemics were studied with regard to the amount of physical activity which they performed around the time when their illness began.

Study of the results suggested that physical activity done before the disease had actually begun did not seem to have much effect on the severity of the paralysis.

However, when physical activity was carried out after the signs of illness had appeared, even before they had become serious, there did seem to be a definite increase in the numbers of those who developed paralysis, and in the severity of such paralysis.

Consequently, it would seem wise in the presence of polio in the community to put every youngster with minor symptoms to bed for a short time until one is sure that the disease is not polio.

Large U. S. Task Force Practices Near China

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — A major U. S. task force is exercising this week off the coast of Red China Adm. Arthur W. Radford, commander of the Pacific leet, said yesterday.

Radford called the operation a "training and familiarization program," but it was regarded here as a show of the flag and a show of force on the sea approaches to Communist China.

The fleet commander said the force was operating in the 100-mile wide straits between Formosa, the Nationalist Chinese headquarters island, and the Red Mainland. Its carrier plane formations probably could be seen from the Red China ports of Foochow, Amoy and Swatow.

THE DRUG STORE is but one unit in a complex pattern of businesses and professions, all of which serve the needs of the community. But it is unique in that pharmacy is both a business and a profession.

A business built on service to the sick cannot be restricted to usual "business hours." The need for medicine and sickroom supplies is usually immediate and urgent. In times of widespread illness, the twenty-four-hour day seems all too short. We are ready, day or night, to serve the pharmaceutical needs of the community.

Scenes From 1952 Democratic Convention Underway In Chicago

BUCKEYE STATE'S FAVORITE SON—State Sen. Robert Bulkley of Cleveland meets with Robert Sohngen, of Hamilton, and John P. Kelly, of Toledo, in Chicago as they plan strategy for the Democratic National Convention. Bulkley has 27 of Ohio's 54 votes pledged to him.

DELEGATES SHOUT THEY NEED ADLAI VERY BADLY. Appearance of Gov. Adlai Stevenson on the rostrum sets off cries of "We . . want . . Stevenson" and a 10-minute ovation for the Illinois governor in the first excitement of the opening of the Democratic convention. Hundreds of delegates, searching for a candidate, interrupted him repeatedly as he attacked the GOP.

CONVENTION MIX-UP—Taking a left to the jaw landed by an unidentified caucus invader, Rex Whittemore, of Bakersfield, Calif., is the center of a fight in Chicago's Palmer House hotel. The scuffle started when supporters of Brig.-Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge invaded the meeting of the Kefauver-pledged California delegation to protest the seating of the group at the Democratic National Convention.

Roving Reports By HAL BOYLE

CHICAGO (AP)—Dearest Wilbur,

Politics is cruel. You give your life to the people, and when you ask them a twilight favor—they look the other way.

I feel both sad and proud today—as sad as if I were the daughter of Vice President Barkley, and the sister of young Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

At the convention hall Monday I saw the political death of 'Dean Alben,' and the birth as a national political figure of President Roosevelt's son. In a single day I saw the sun set for one man of 74 years—and the sun rise on a man who has lived just half that long.

I went to the evening session as a guest of a dubious Texas delegate. I believe I mentioned him in my first letter to you. He is a very courtly gentleman and says he owns "a small oilfield — not more than half the size of Illinois." He sent an orchid to my room for me to wear. It was a small orchid —not more than half the size of Chicago, but colored prettier.

Well, the Democrats got to squabbling like Republicans, and fought the Civil War all over again trying to get the Dixiecrats to take a loyalty oath to support the party's candidates. Lacking either a Robert E. Lee or a Stonewall Jackson, the south lost out fast.

In the midst of the battle word spread around that Vice President Barkley was withdrawing from the race for the presidential nomination.

The lady next to me was from Kentucky, and she started crying.

"That grand old man," she said. "They have broken his heart, and he gave 47 years to his country. It was cruel to remind him of his age. He still has a younger, kinder heart than most anybody here."

Wilbur, you know I'm an old softie. I started crying, too, and we traded handkerchiefs. Then this lady and I started talking, and it turned out she has the same kind of refrigerator as we do. I guess it is a small world after all. We are going shopping together Wednesday.

It looks to me like the Democrats have decided youth must be served as the old saying goes. The young Democrats here have risen up and taken over the party's first unbossed convention in 20 years. It was a coalition of three politically young men who put over the "loyalty oath" designed to keep the south from bolting again. They were Sen. Blair Moody, Gov. G. Mennen Williams — a handsome, clean-shaven fellow — and Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

But it was young Roosevelt who took the convention by storm. The delegates sprang up cheering when he was introduced as "the great son of a great president."

It was as if a giant pulse of electricity had swept the great hall . . . that politically magic name. He had the famous Roosevelt toss of the head . . . the sweeping Roosevelt festure . . . a voice rougher and more booming than his father as he said:

"We do not want to drive Democrats out of the party with this rule . . . we want to keep them in the party."

As he spoke he looked up at a portrait of his dad at the other end of the hall. Honey, I know I am being sentimental, but I thought I could actually see the face of his father break into a small secret smile of pride in his son—just a crinkling at the corners of his mouth. Am I being silly, Wilbur?

Anyway, the convention now is humming with word that young Franklin made himself into a national figure in his first speech at a party convention.

"I think we ought to nominate Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt for veep this year," said one enthusiastic delegate, 'and keep her son in mothballs until 1960 and run him for president."

But the ticket most delegates seem to think would be most likely to beat Gen. Eisenhower is Gov. Stevenson and Sen. Russell. They figure the only people who would vote against that package are — Republicans.

In haste—more Wednesday, from your loving wife,

Trellis Mae

P. S. Wire $100 immediately. That dubious Texas delegate has invited me out for cocktails—and I simply have to have a new dress.

All Ohio Anthrax Quarantines Lifted

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The state agriculture department today reported all quarantines on Ohio farms because of anthrax, the cattle disease, had been lifted as of July 19.

The disease killed many scores of hogs and other farm animals over a period of about four months, beginning last March.

It led to Ohio banning imports and exports of certain cattle feed, after the disease had been traced to bone meal imported from Belgium, as well as interstate movements of certain feeds. The disease also was reported in a number of other states.

Peak of the disease was reached in Ohio last April. At one time in that month 258 farms in 57 counties were under quarantine.

Agriculture authorities reported steps taken to eradicate the source and spread of the disease had been effective.

Cattle have baby teeth that are replaced by adult teeth in the same manner as are the teeth of human children.

Old-Fashioned Summer

When a man's shirt is glued to his back with perspiration from honest toil, it is no time to think about old-fashioned summers.

In an old-fashioned summer—if a man is in or about middle age—there was nothing like this. There were swimming holes and swimmers taking skinny-dips. There was homemade root beer in the cellar. There were wonderful havens from the heat in the cool woods, tree houses, caves and hideaways in alder patches by a creek.

There were willow roots where a fisherman could dangle his bare feet in the water. There were deep porches sheltered by slatted awnings, with a pitcher of lemonade nearby. There were ice wagons exuding moist chill for the lucky kids permitted to ride down the block on the back steps.

Sure, it was hot sometimes — so what? Things slowed down to a walk until the temperature dropped. In an old-fashioned summer, no one worked—at least no one who now calls a summer old-fashioned if it occurred more than 30 years ago. Everybody stayed cool. Everybody, that is, except those who old-fashianed summers consisted of the one they remembered from 30 years before.

Who's Fighting?

The rank-and-file voter who knows little and cares less about political organizations cannot be expected to understand why insiders sometimes seen more determined to hurt one another than to hurt the political opposition.

This is what happened in the Republican party which gave it the black eye of having within it a group which fought so hard to win conventions that it could not win elections. The convention winners gave the losers such a going over that the losers lost interest, and that caused the winners to lose the election.

In the Democratic party, this kind of infighting became so vicious in 1948 that it led to a three-way split of Democratic votes among Truman, Thurmond and Wallace. The split would have been fatal had it not been for the apathy of the opposition.

A rank-and-file voter becomes aware of these things though not being part of them. Nevertheless, they affect his political feeling. He cannot understand the logic, if any, of humiliating the losing side in a party contest since its support is going to be needed to win the election.

He cannot sympathize with the exclusive feeling which seems to come upon victors in their first flush of victory. It has no bearing on his own political thought, which is concerned wholly with ways and means of using the two-party system to give him the kind of government he wants.

It remains to be demonstrated that the winners of the contest in the Republican party will know how to do in 1952 what they did not do in three preceding campaigns. Can they keep the losers from getting the impression they are being elbowed out of their own party?

Can they keep the rank-and-file voter, with an eye on their internecine warfare, from getting the impression they are too busy fighting each other to fight the opposition.

If Giants Were Pygmies

If the government's action against seven large oil companies runs its usual course, there will be years of expensive litigation ending in the conclusion that what was done cannot be undone.

Even in the remote event that the final finding is against the companies—remote because the politicians who habitually attack bigness as a crime are not likely to remain in control that long—the defendants will have discounted it long in advance by rearranging their structures and practices.

If giants were pygmies, they would be blessedly free of censure for being giants. But being giants, they necessarily are gigantic in their operations. That is the essence of the crime which they are accused of committing by the pygmies who critieize them—that they are giantic in their operations.

Undoubtedly it is proper to make them aware that they are not too big to be subject to the rules, insofar as rules laid down by legislators in a remote era can be interpreted sensibly in the light of new circumstances. Perhaps it is in the nature of their size that they must expect to be singled out for attacks which are more political than legal.

Nevertheless, as the attacks occur, the question always arises of whether they are against illegality, or merely against success.

What a man smears on himself when he's painting his own home would be enough for a second coat.

For a lot of people who are going to the horse races these days, now is the time to roll out the barrel.

When junior, sister, mom and the baby join dad in a rowboat fishing trip, we know who gets hooked.

The Man They Want

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Democrats Unanmous For Stevenson

Rarely ever has a national party convention such unanimity at the very outset about the candidate it wants to nominate as it did here on the first day of the convention. For it was apparent in the spontaneous demonstration—as it has been apparent outside the Convention Hall, in the lobbies and conference rooms of the delegates—that Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois is the man they all want for party leader.

Will he accept if nominated? It seems to be generally agreed that he will. The main reason is that, if he doesn't his political career is finished. He could never get the nomination again once he turned it down. No party likes to name a man only when it suits his convenience to run.

It has been known that Governor Stevenson didn't want to run this year because he was anxious to be reelected governor of Illinois. He has had an idea that it would be more opportune for him to be a candidate four years hence.

But this is the year the Democratic Party needs Stevenson. For General Eisenhower is a popular candidate, and none of the men whose names have been actively sponsored — Kefauver, Russell, Harrimann, Barkley—is considered strong enough to win against Eisenhower. With Stevenson, the feeling would be one of confidence—with Barkley or anybody else, it would be one of hope against hope, if not despair.

THE ILLINOIS governor showed in just a few minutes in the opening proceedings of the convention what a whale of a candidate he would make. His speech was well-thought-out. It was on a higher plane than most political speeches—a sort of throwback to the kind of political speeches President Wilson used to make. When Governor Stevenson urged his party to admit its mistakes and not to condone them making excuses, he was showing the rank and file how he would steer ahead, when corruption is bound to be a major issue.

He pointed out that the achievements in world policy deserve greater emphasis and his idea apparently is that, if these are kept in mind, the mistakes will have less weight. His strategy for a national campaign oozed out of every paragraph of the speech.

It was easy to see that the delegates liked Stevenson. He is head and shoulders above all the other candidates in total elements of appeal—he has youth, vigor, intellectual capacity, and a successful record as governor of a mid-western state. He is skilled enough to walk a tightrope in everything from civil rights to Taft-Hartley "repeal."

Leaders in several of the big delegations told this correspondent today: "Stevenson is a natural."

Only, therefore, if Sevenson refuses to accept is there a chance for any of the others.

It seems odd that labor leaders have turned thumbs down on Barkley. It is a lesson to those in public life who go down the line, year after year and in vote after vote, for labor legislation only to find that, when a man of Barkley's fidelity needs the support of labor, the union leaders welch. If ever a man has been pro-labor in Congress, it is Alben Barkley.

But the argument against him is said to be not his labor record but his age. The answer to that point was to select a good vice-presidential nominee for Barkley is as active as any of the other candidates and has had far more experience than any of them not only in the house of representatives but as majority leader of the senate.

BARKLEY'S sensational withdrawal with his parting shot against labor union domination of the convention will not soon be forgotten. In 1944 Franklin Roosevelt's advice to vice presidential candidates was "clear with Sydney." The reference was to the late Mr. Hillman who was then a CIO leader. Today the Truman advice is to "clear with Phil" for Mr. Murray of the CIO is the real boss here and the AFL goes along.

So far as speechmaking and external appearances are concerned, this convention has gotten off to a good start. It was smart to put Senator Douglas of Illinois on the program with a defense of the administration's record in Korea. It was a good argument he made as far as it went and it certainly does puncture many of the Republican arguments, but it still doesn't answer satisfactorily the question of why the Truman administration, after entering the war in Korea, didn't use maximum force to end it.

The contention that it would have risked a larger war is no more logical than it was the day the United States, in behalf of the United Nations, decided to intervene. That was the real risk and, once incurred, there is no reason why the conflict should not have been pressed promptly to a military conclusion, thus saving many lives.

Deeper In The Red

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Uncle Sam is spending twice as much as he is taking in these days. In the first two weeks of this month the Treasury ran behind by two billion dollars.

The financial district thinks the Treasury will soon be borrowing four billion dollars from corporations as a sort of advance payment of next March's income taxes.

Under the impact of defense and other spending the federal debt has hit 263 billion dollars, eight billion higher than a year ago. And the government has borrowed six billion dollars in "new money" since April.

July is always a bad month for the Treasury, of course. Tax collections are slow, while government agencies start to spend funds appropriated for the new fiscal year.

But this July's two billion dollar deficit in two weeks compares with a one billion deficit a year ago, when the Korean war was only a year old. This double-time into debt shows how defense spending is now really hitting its stride.

The Treasury hopes its more liberally termed savings bonds will coax money from the public, which was cashing in more of the old style savings bonds than it was buying.

The Treasury may next turn to tax anticipatory bonds, a form it has used before. These are sold to corporations, who have to save money for months to meet their tax bills. By buying the bonds, they get some interest on the cash they're laying aside. And then in March they turn the bonds into the Treasury for the taxes due at that time.

Missed The Boat

Ever since Pennsylvania's GOP delegation was caught caucusing in 1940 when Wendell Willkie was nominated, the Republicans of that state have been highly sensitive about "missing the boat."

They suffered in 1948, too, because, while they played a key role in the nomination of Governor Dewey, he lost.

"This time," they said, "we must be right."

Well, Governor Fine did indeed declare for Eisenhower. But by the time he got around to it, the contest was all over but the formal voting.

It is hard to say that Fine made the boat. More properly one might say he made the small dinghy tagging along behind the main vessel. Pennsylvania didn't do it again.

Hungry For News

For another strike with different implications, take a look up in the northwest at Tacoma, Wash., where there hadn't been an issue of the city's only paper, the News-Tribune, since the pressmen walked out nearly three months ago.

Tacomans, hungry for the printed word, eagerly snatched up an eight-page daily put out by idle newsmen, but there were only 11,000 copies for 80,000 readers. And there were no ads. Without the printed page to tell readers what was on the shelves, business in Tacoma stores fell off as much as 35 per cent.

In its enforced idleness, the News-Tribune made dramatic proof that newspapers are just as vital to community life today as they ever were, despite all the claims of radio and television.

Uncle Ef Says

If you think you hear faint crashes around the house at night, pay no attention to the. Arch Nearbrite says they're simply echoes of vote pledges busted by some of the delegates to the Republican Convention.

Tom Dewey's Book

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Prior to becoming kingmaker at the Republican convention, Thomas E. Dewey took a hurried trip to Asia, thus becoming an authority on the subject and writing a book.

George E. Sokolsky

Nearly every casual visitor to Asia writes a book. Tom Dewey's "Journey to the Far Pacific" has value because he brings to the subject the shrewdness of a politician who has managed very well for himself, except that he was twice defeated for President.

It must be recalled that before Tom Dewey became a gang-buster and politician, he was a musician, a baritone. Had he pursued a cultural career rather than one of raking over the muck of human depravity, he might have been a great artist and a lovable person. As it is, he remains everlastingly the prosecutor. Yet, when he was in Japan, he caught the essential fact of American propaganda in Asia as well as in Europe, which is that those peoples are more interested in human culture than in automobiles and washing machines. He says:

"THE CULTURAL BARS between America and Asia are as numerous as the business bars. The Soviet Union not only suffers none of the handicaps under which we struggle in a business way, they have also outstripped us overwhelmingly in their cultural penetration into the free world. Traveling Soviet ballets, orchestras, singers, and artists, as well as every form of Soviet literature, are turning up all over the world in huge quantities. Much of the music and art is entirely unaccompanied by propaganda but it is plainly the most powerful propaganda of all. For us to compete with the Soviet in cultural propaganda would probably cost billions, but as I noted the total absence of any sign of American culture in the Pacific it seemed to me that our defeat in the struggle for the minds of people in this one area alone was so decisive as to require a complete overhauling of our attitude and approach.

"Of course an occasional baseball team or boxer makes a triumphant tour of Japan for profit and does some good; American movies and magazines circulate in the Pacific. But more often than not they deal with the ugliest aspect of American life, frequently exaggerating our defects for purposes of sensationalism or entertainment."

This is absolutely true and has been missed by the Voice of America and all the other propaganda agencies designed to make Asiatics and Europeans love America. Nations are not bought by money, as we are beginning to learn after spending close to $100,000,000,000 trying to prove that they can get cash and credit from the United States almost on request and never to be returned. We even gave Soviet Russia $11,000,000,000 and bought ourselves an enemy.

ON THE OTHER HAND, nations can be won to ideas. This has been the program of Soviet propaganda and it has been extraordinarily effective, even when the ideas are demonstrably false.

Our weakness has been that while we have all the evidence to establish the errors of Marxism, in philosophy as in economics, we have avoided doing ourselves any good, first, because those to whom propaganda has been delegated do not understand the requirements of the task in this century; and secondly, because a theory of the separation of government from religion makes an intelligent discussion of opposition to Marxism officially impossible. As long as that is so, no matter how much we spend to convert nations to a love of us, we shall fail.

There is much in Tom Dewey's book that is interesting and even important. He has grasped the significance of Formosa and his views on that subject may prove embarrassing to General Eisenhower, who has always deprecated the importance of Asia, particularly Formosa. Tom Dewey's thesis is not the same as General Eisenhower's.

To some phases of this book, I shall return because discussion is necessary, particularly his concept that officials should not be held responsible for the mistakes they make, even if American lives are lost as a result of their errors, because what they said, at the time, represented their best judgment.

According to this idea, no one should have held Nero responsible for the burning of Rome, with its consequent human suffering and loss of life—because it represented Nero's best judgment. Must we die because idiots use their judgment? At what point does official responsibility for official acts begin?

Back In The Fold

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

It's really official now.

And new Japanese Ambassador Eikichi Araki is one of the most relieved men in town, although he had a couple of nervous hours the other afternoon.

Japan is back in the old international fold.

As is generally recognized in this world capitol, the Senate can ratify a dozen treaties and the diplomats can scratch their signatures on two leagues of good bond paper. But unless Washington society rules that a country's liquor is fittin' for drinkin' the other formalities don't count.

That's what had Ambassador Araki so worried when he sent out invitations for the first party in the Japanese embassy since some time before what is now known as Pearl Harbor Day.

The Japanese embassy was in the news last when a smart photographer caught the staff burning some papers outside of it on Dec. 7, 1941. The Swiss took care of the luxurious building overlooking picturesque Rock Creek Park during the war. And the Far East Commission has had it since then.

The new ambassador, who went to college in the U. S. before the war and who is an important banker in his own country, had to sweat out the whole affair practically by himself.

He is a widower, and his daughter, Tomiko, who is only 21, is considered too young by Japanese standards to have any part in such parties. The wife of one of the staff members acts as his official hostess.

Had Araki been briefed on the standard Washington cocktail party routine, his pre-party ordeal wouldn't have been so trying. As it was, some time about an hour after the shindig was to have gotten under way. the first guests arrived. That's actually normal.

Even the arrival of the first batch of thirsty guests didn't allay all of his fears. Very first toarrive where Mr. and Mrs. John Steelman. He is the Assistant President and more or less has to go to such affairs. Following him was the official State Department cocktail party battalion who have to go, with no more or less about it.

Then, however, things started to look up. The dean of the diplomatic corps, Ambassadorr Munthe de Morgenstierne of Norway arrived. After that Araki knew he was a social shoo-in. The generals, admirals, Supreme Court justices, cabinet members, dowagers and just plain crashers showed up.

With high good humor at the way things were suddenly going, Araki wandered among the festive guests, explaining that the reason native Japanese dishes weren't being served was because of the weather. Too perishable in the heat.

He invited everybody there to another party, late in the Fall, for which he promises the real thing, including hot saki and at least seven different kinds of raw fish.

During the long gay evening no person was tactless enough to bring up the recent armed misunderstanding which temporarily put Japan out of the social club. No Russian representatives showed up, but then nobody seemed to miss them, either.

On the whole, the party was a tremendous success. The last guest staggered out some time around midnight, which is the real test here for a party that is supposed to be over at seven.

It was the consensus of the guests that the liquor, food and hospitality all measured up to Washington standards and that any time Araki wants to try it again, they're willing to do their part.

And bygones are officially bygones.

In Washington, D. C., is a robot which predicts tides for every port in the world for years ahead with great precision, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

What! No Big Leaguer?

There are so many candidates and so much uncertainty here that the question is whether this is a political convention or the video "Blind Date" program. They may have to throw out the temporary chairman and let Arlene Francis take over. The great fear of every delegate so far as the presidential nomination is concerned is that a STRANGER will get it.

There haven't been so many candidates since the selection of the original Floradora sextette. Fancy the Democrats in convention witthout a Top Banana, an outstanding performer, an obvious big leaguer eclipsing the field! There is a shortage of White Knights, Shining Gladiators and Sir Galahad! This looks more like a raffle or a dispersal sale of "stock of all ages."

(Everybody has been mentioned for the nomination except Marcellino Romani, the Puerto Rican delegate, who was the star of the GOP convention. And in the public eye he is the only man who could stampede either convention. Romani demanding a poll of his delegation is a better video attraction than our foremost statesmen sounding off on the state of the universe.)

PERLE MESTA, around whom "Call Me Madam" was written, is to be a convention speaker. . . . This is the musical that started the "I Like Ike" movement. . . . (How mixed up can a sequence of events get?). . . . The reluctance of Adlai Stevenson is not exclusive. . . . Quite a few of the mentioned candidates do not seem too keen for it. . . . There is talk of naming a roping committee to tie down a winning candidate, and a handcuff committee to hold him while he is being nominated. . . . However, there are still so many men of minor prominence willing to take it that the proceedings by television will look like the first real attempt to make wrestling programs a summer event.

Estes Kefauver is still so afraid of dirty work at the crossroads that he won't even trust his coonskin hat to a checkgirl. . . . One thing is certain: if Estes gets to the White House he will make Washington into Studio One, demand that Joe Stalin take the witness stand and cite Malik for perjury if he refuses to tell where he was on the night of the crime.

The Democrats have profited by the GOP video mistakes. . . . Things will be tough for the delegate who likes to read the baseball averages during an invocation or talk out of the corner of his mouth to a fellow conspirator during the national anthem. . . . (But nobody can stop him from trying). . . . Every attempt will be made to prevent fistfights. . . . This is poor judgment if the Democrats want to hold the video audince—it's the best part of of any convention . . . Also, it is announced, no outsiders will be drilled and dragged in for demonstrations. . . . When a Democrat stages a ruckus he needs no help.

GUIDED MISSILES will soon deliver airmail, it is announced . . . The postman will be lucky if he has time to ring ONCE. . . . Georgia Neese Clark, whose name is on your currency, will address the Democratic convention. . . . The Democrats realize that if they want to insist that money is money they need expert testimony.

Hempstead, L. I., officials turning down a demand for a law to keep women out of the shopping districts in bathing attire have ruled "You can't legislate modesty. . . . Guess we'll just have to legislate G-strings."

Hooper ratings on the GOP convention show here that in New York the rating was a low 36, or half what goes, for example, to "I Love Lucy." . . . Why not? . . . It must also be remembered that Lucille Ball starts her video show on time, states her position promptly and gets the jokes in the right places. . . Harry Truman says he is out of the race because he doesn't want to be carried out of the White House in a pine box . . . Nonsense! It couldn't happen. . . Harry would force up the lid, start swinging and proceed to denounce the whole thing as a Republican plot.

MODERN VERSION

Mother, may I go in to swim?
Yes, it's rather pleasing;
Hang your figleaf on a tree—
And say you're not strip-teasing.

CAN YOU REMEMBER

Away back when you could avoid following a political convention?

Looking Backward

From The News Files

FIVE YEARS AGO—Misses Geraldine Hively, Della Weingart and Naomi Capel, employed in the Deming office, left Sunday night for Atlantic City, N. J., to spend a week's vacation.

Herbert J. McCave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McCave of W. State St., and William Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Benson of Franklin St., have returned from Lafayette, Ind., where they were students at Purdue University.

TEN YEARS AGO—The Germans announced today the execution of 28 persons at Lille on conviction of a series of offenses, including sabotage, possession of weapons and Communistic activity.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO — William Randolph Hearst, sponsor of the attempted New York-Rome flight of the monoplone Old Glory, today offered a reward of $25,000 to the captain and the crew of the steamship which finds Lloyd Bertaud, James D. Hill and Philip Payne, occupants of the plane on its apparently ill-starred flight.

"I know that no reward is necessary," Mr. Hearst said, "to stimulate the search for Old Glory and its occupants. But I will gladly give $25,000 to the captain and crew of the ship which finds them merely as an expression of my gratitude."

FORTY YEARS AGO—Mr. and Mrs. Ira Tullis of Columbiana are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Kridler of McKinley Ave.

WHY TALK ABOUT IMMORALITY OF GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS WHEN-

THE LAWS THEMSELVES ARE IMMORAL!

WE MUST HAVE LAWS TO COLLECT TAXES FOR THE MORAL PURPOSE OF PROTECTING EVERY INDIVIDUAL'S GOD-GIVEN LIFE, LIBERTY AND THE RIGHT TO EARN AND HOLD PROPERTY.

BUT, OTHER LAWS HAVE BEEN PASSED WHICH ALLOW GOVERNMENT BUREAUS TO USE OUR TAX MONEY FOR IMMORAL PURPOSES...

OUR TAX MONEY IS BEING USED FOR LOANS, SUBSIDIES, GRANTS-IN-AID, GOVERNMENT CORPORATIONS... FOR THE SPECIAL BENEFIT OF PRIVILEGED GROUPS. THESE LAWS TAKE FROM SOME PEOPLE WHAT BELONGS TO THEM AND GIVE IT TO OTHERS TO WHOM IT DOES NOT BELONG!

THE PURPOSE OF AMERICAN GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN PERVERTED!

OUR GOVERNMENT WAS THE ONLY GOVERNMENT EVER FORMED ON THE PRINCIPLE THAT—INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS LIMIT WHAT GOVERNMENT MAY DO.
ALL OTHER GOVERNMENTS, THROUGHOUT HISTORY, WERE FORMED ON THE PRINCIPLE THAT—GOVERNMENT LIMITS THE RIGHTS OF THE INDIVIDUAL.

TODAY—INSTEAD OF INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS LIMITING GOVERNMENT, OUR IMMORAL LAWS ALLOW GOVERNMENT TO LIMIT INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS!

THESE LAWS DESTROY YOUR LIBERTY... AND IN 1950, THEY TOOK AWAY 23 BILLION DOLLARS OF YOUR PROPERTY IN TAXES FOR THE BENEFIT OF SPECIAL GROUPS!

Copyright 1951, F. W. Overesch

UNTIL WE INSIST ON OUR GOVERNMENT HAVING A MORAL PURPOSE, WE SHALL HAVE IMMORAL OFFICIALS!

LIFE, LIBERTY, THE RIGHT TO EARN AND HOLD PROPERTY — these three gifts of God preceded all man-made laws and are superior to them.

So every individual has a right to protect these gifts against interference from any source whatsoever. If government is to have a moral purpose, it must protect these individual God-given rights for every person.

Therefore, the purpose of our government must be —

"TO MAKE AND ENFORCE LAWS WHICH PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL'S GOD-GIVEN LIFE, LIBERTY AND THE RIGHT TO EARN AND HOLD PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP —AND THESE LAWS MUST ALSO PROTECT THE PEOPLE FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF."

Since an individual cannot lawfully interfere with the Life, Liberty or Property of another individual,—then a moral government cannot lawfully interfere with the Life, Liberty or Property of individuals or groups.

Diehl-Jackson Vows Heard In Ceremony At Salineville

Rev. Terry Diehl performed the candlelight, double-ring ceremony which united his son, Robert Eugene, and Harriet Roberta Jackson in marriage at 8:30 p.m. in the Assembly of God Church, Salineville.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Jackson of Hanoverton. Rev. and Mrs. Diehl reside in Salineville. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Palms, white lilies and carnations provided a beautiful background for the seven-branch candelabra.

The soloist, Kenneth Jackson of East Liverpool, is a brother of the bride. Kenneth's wife, Yvonne, played the traditional wedding music. "Savior Like a Shepherd was sung while the couple knelt at the altar.

The bodice of the bride's gown was of chantilly lace and the gown had long sleeves, long full skirt and train of acetate satin. The fingertip veil had a border of chantilly lace. Her bouquet was of white roses with a white satin ribbon and streamers.

Miss Alice Jackson, her sister's maid of honor, wore a pale blue organdy floor-length dress with a full skirt. Her hat matched the dress, and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

The flower girl, Gerry Kay Hull of Canton, wore a floor-length marquisette gown and carried a white basket with white rose petals.

The ring bearer, Larry McDevitt, nephew of the bride, wore a white suit with long trousers, black shoes and a black bow tie. He wore a white carnation boutonniere, and carried a white satin heart-shaped pillow.

Walter Wesche, uncle of the groom, was best man and the bride's brothers, Stanley Jackson of Painesville and Edwin Jackson of Hanoverton, were ushers. They all wore boutonnieres of white carnations.

Mrs. Jackson wore a pale blue summer suit with white accessories and her corsage was pink carnations. Mrs. Diehl wore a navy blue crepe dress, with navy and white accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

County Health Department In New Quarters; Open House Set

County citizens will have an opportunity to visit the new headquarters of the Columbiana County Health Department next week as the department holds "open house.'

Remodeling of the third floor for the department was done at a cost of $14,000. The layout includes nine rooms for the staff of 19.

ficials declared the six major buildings unsafe.

At Arvin, a community of 8,000 18 miles west, damage in the business section was almost as severe. The city's main street was a mass of wreckage. No serious injuries were reported.

Landslides Block Roads

Roads leading into and around the Tehachapi area were buckled and blocked by landslides but by nightfall all but one main highway, State 178 through Walker Pass, had been cleared. Caveins blocked four Southern Pacific Railroad tunnels, which officials said couldn't be cleared for days.

In scores of other communities, from the coast to the Nevada border, windows cracked, chandeliers fell, cornices toppled and high tension lines parted in showers of sparks.

In Los Angeles, where many areas were without power during the morning, water sloshed out of swimming pools. Water and oil storage tanks sprang leaks. There was a fire in a refinery at Bakersfield and an explosion in a refinery at Long Beach. The most common loss reported: crockery.

Dr. Beno Gutenberg, director of the Seismological Laboratory at the California Institute of Technology in Pasadena, said aftershocks of the great quake, probably of lesser intensity, will continue for two or three years.

He said only the disastrous San Francisco earthquake of 1906 exceeded yesterday's in power.

The Southern California area continued to rock yesterday from smaller aftershocks.

The department moved about a week ago from its old quarters on E. Washington to new surroundings on the third floor of the Courthouse.

Remigino Captures 100-Meter In Dramatic Finish; U. S. Has Glorious Day At Olympic Games

HELSINKI (AP) — The teeming American village of Kaepylae hailed four new Olympic champions today but the loudest cheers were for a stringy little speedster from New York named Lindy Remigino.

"Its the Cinderellaa story of the year," said soft-spoken Brutus Hamilton, head coach of the U. S. track forces.

An international nonentity who never had won a major title, the 5-foot-7, 147-pound Manhattan College junior outsped a collection of the world's fastest humans to win the 100-meter championship in a dramatic blanket finish.

The drive for the tape was so close that a photograph was necessary to separate the six finalists and Remigino himself didn't believe until minutes afterwards he actually had won.

"I was sure I had lost the race. I went over and congratulated Herb (Herb McKenley of Jamaica).

"When they told me I was the winner I said, 'Oh, no, it was Herb.' I didn't want to be disappointed."

All Timed Evenly

Remigino, McKenley, Britain's great Emanuel McDonald Bailey and Dean Smith of Austin, Tex., hit the tape as one — all timed in 10.4 seconds.

A tenth of a second back in the most stirring finish ever in this glamor event came Russia's Vladimir Soukharev and John Treloar of Australia.

McKenley also thought Remigino made his lunge too quickly. The Jamaican was heartsick when he learned he had done no better than second.

"The fairest thing they could have done would have been to call it a draw," McKenley said. "But I wouldn't protest."

Until yesterday Remigino's greatest achievements have been as a member of Manhattan's crack relay teams and as winner of the 220-yard title in the IC4A Championships last spring.

He was third in the IC4A 100-yard dash, fifth in the National Intercollegiate's 100-meter final and second to Art Bragg in the Olympic tryouts. Bragg pulled up lame in the semifinals yesterday.

U. S. Has Great Day

It was the greatest single day for the Red, White and Blue in nearly 50 years.

"It was glorious," said Hamilton. We have had nothing to compare with it."

Parry O'Brien, Santa Monica, Calif., led the U. S. to a sweep of the first three places in the shot, Charley Moore won the 400-meter hurdles and Pfc. Jerome Biffle of Camp Hood, Tex., captured the broad jump.

O'Brien set an Olympic record and Moore tied his own made in a preliminary heat Sunday.

O'Brien, handsome, 20-year old from Southern California, made his Olympic record toss of 57 feet, 1.43 inches on the first try.

Moore, graceful Cornell University graduate, stood off a strong challenge by Russia's Juril Lituev to win the hurdles in 50.8 seconds.

Twenty-four-year-old Biffle won the broad jump with a leap of 24 feet, 10.03 inches as Meredith Gourdine of Cornell finished second and the favored George Brown fouled on all his three jumps.

G-C Victorious Over Demings

Amvets Rout Sanitary, 10-0, In Five Innings

Sixth place Mullins pulled the upset of the evening last night in the second of three games when they toppled the Class AA League leading Bliss, 3-2, by tallying a run in the top of the seventh inning.

Taking a 1-0 lead in the third inning, the Manufacturers yielded the Blissmen two runs in the bottom of the fourth frame but came back to deadlock the count at 2-all with a run in the fifth frame. Both teams failed to score in the sixth inning but the Manufacturers managed a seventh inning Marken. Pitcher John McQuiston doubled and sent Red Hall home with the winning marker. Hall had singled previously.

McQuiston yielded just five bingles to the Bliss nine while his teammates tagged Wayne Russell and Dick Jackson for four hits. The winning pitcher's base rap was the only extra base hit for the Mullins outfit but Sam Pridon hit for the circuit in the fourth inning for the Bliss. He accountered for their only runs since his clout came with a teammate aboard.

Bliss managed to get two runners on base in the final inning when Bert Sutter singled and Walt Brian doubled. However, Brian's double came with two out and the next batter popped weakly to McQuiston.

OTHER GAMES of the evening saw the Amvets rout Sanitary, 10-1, in the opener while Gil and Chucks closed the night with a 4-2 victory over Demings.

The latter was a tight tilt most of the way, each team getting single tallies in the second inning. The G-C nine pulled in a run in the fifth frame when Al Landwert tripled and scored on an error. Again in the sixth the winners tallied two runs when Dick Ellis cracked a home run with Dick Garrett, who had singled, aboard.

The Pumpers tried to get back in the game but tallied just one run in the sixth frame on two straight singles and a fielder's choice.

Pitcher Don Bell allowed seven hits to the Deming nine while his team garnered six off the offerings of Dave Ehrhart. Demings only extra base blow was a triple by Lee Hahn in the fourth inning but his teammates failed to bring him home.

THE AMVETS' John Zines and Francis Lanney twirled one-hit ball against the last place Sanitary in winning the 1-0 shutout. Zines yielded a short single into rightfield during the third inning of the three frames he twirled. Lanney, who opened the fourth frame, held the Sanitary nine hitless and managed to strike out the entire side during the fifth inning.

It was Lanney who opened the scoring of the game when he pounded a Crawford pitch over the leftfield fence with Walter Woods aboard. Woods had walked and Lanney followed him with his round tripper. Melvin Wukotich followed Lanney with a triple but was caught off base to end the inning.

The Amvets had a big six-run third inning when nine men went to bat. Pitcher Zines led off the inning with a single and a walk and error filled the bases. After a strikeout, Kirby Laughlin pounded the softball over the centerfield fence and four runs came home. Jimmy Laughlin followed with a single and Woods walked for the second time. Both runners advanced and scored on a bad throw to third in an attempt to catch Laughlin off base.

A walk and two base blows brought in the final two runs for the winners as the game was cut to a five-inning affair.

THE BLISS LOSS will not change plans for the playoff to determine who is to meet the Class AA All-Stars Thursday night. The game will be played tonight at 9:30. Should the Amvets win, they will meet Gil and Chucks at 9:30 Wednesday night. Another victory then will give them the right to encounter the All-Stars. A Bliss victory tonight will automatically permit them to play the outstanding players of the loop.

All-Star Selections For Class AA, A Leagues; Playoff Game Slated In Class AA Loop Tonight; Leetonia To Encounter Class A All-Star Team

All-Star selections for the sixth annual All-Star contests were announced today by League Manager Ward Zeller for the Class A and Class AA Leagues, despite the fact that a playoff to determine the All-Stars opposition is yet to be played.

The playoff game between Bliss and Amvets is slated for 9:30 tonight at Kelley Park. With Bliss winning they would encounter the All-Stars but should the Amvets triumph they must play Gil and Chucks. A second victory would allow them to face the Class AA League standouts.

Position of the Class AA All-Stars are quite undecided as four spots in the lineup are held by either Amvet of Bliss players. The winner of the playoff of course will withdraw its players from the line up and the second man will move into the first spot.

Positions of catcher, first base, shortstop, left field and pitcher are decided definitely since neither Bliss nor Amvets players hold those positions. Butler Grange tops the lineup with Gail Stewart on the catching end of Pitcher Glenn Mercer and Jerry Mountz playing shortstop, all of Butler Grange. Al Landwert is perched on first base and Demings' Dick Boughton will chase fly balls in left field.

At the other positions Bliss and Amvets players are tops. Dempsey Balsley, and Eddie Duco of the Amvets are holding starting spots at second base and centerfield, respectively, while Del Court and Sam Pridon dominate the third base and rightfield positions.

CIO Dominates Lineup

CIO of the Class AA League dominates the starting lineup with four players while two other remain in reserve when they take the field in the second game Thursday against Leetonia, leader of the loop.

John Volio, Fred Culler, Joe Keister, and Jerry Miller are slated to start for the Class A All-Stars along with Vic Lake and Jack Haldeman of Salem Tool, George Ehrhart and Jim Warrington of Sears and Don Fife doing the hurling chores, also coming from the Sears nine.

Jerry Beltempo will pilot his Leetonia nine in the All-Star against George Ehrhart's team. However, Ehrhart, manager of second place Sears, will be playing in the game so Clarence Walker, coach with the Sears combine, will handle the duties.

Following Fife to the mound will be Bill Sheen of CIO and Leo Kline of the Tool nine.

Yanks, Dodgers Favored To Cop Pennants

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports Writer

The 48,263 spectators who watched the New York Yankees defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-3, in an exhibition at Yankee Stadium last night may have been seeing a preview of the 1952 World Series.

Certainly it will require some mighty big doings by any of the other contenders to knock either the Yankees or Dodgers off the top perch. The Yanks headed west today with a comfortable 4½-game margin over their nearest competitor. The Dodgers arrived home today with a commanding 7½-game bulge over the defending National League Champion New York Giants.

Of the two, the Yankees appear to have the rougher task ahead. Starting with a twi-night doubleheader in Cleveland this evening, the world champions will pack 21 games into the next 17 days. There isn't an off day anywhere on the trip.

Brooklyn and the Giants open up 14-game home stands tonight. The Dodgers start with Cincinnati and the Giants take on the tough St. Louis Cardinals. The Brooks are riding high on the crest of an eight-game winning streak while the injury-riddled Giants are fumbling around following a dismal Western trip.

The impression is that if the Giants are going to pull another 1951 miracle finish, they'd better start right away instead of waiting until Aug. 11 as they did last year. The Dodgers apear unstoppable right now.

"I know what happened last year," said Brooklyn manager Charlie Dressen. "How can I ever forget? But I think this is a sounder club from top to bottom than we had last year. Look at the bench. If we had a guy like George Shuba, we'd have coasted home. Also, if we'd had Joe Black to finish games for us, we'd have made it with games to spare."

Indians Face Reynolds, Raschi Tonight

Skippin' Around

By SKIP GREENISEN

Thursday night's All-Star softball games will mark the sixth annual all-star affair staged at Kelley Park. The initial contests were held at the opening of the park in August, 1947.

In that year a preliminary game between the Class B League and a group of Old Timers managed by Joe Kelley provided the excitment of the evening. However, in the past few years the girls softball games have been drawing large crowds to the All-Star contests.

Thursday night's contests will pit Butler Grange and the Class B All-Stars in the opening tilt, Leetonia and the Class A stars in the second game, Homeworth and the Girls League standouts in the third game while either Bliss or the Amvets will face the All-Stars of the Class AA League in the evening's final.

The Salem Merchants almost have the Columbiana County League championship sewed up with but six games left to play. The Merchants' victory Sunday afternoon at Centennial Park moved them six games in front of second place East Liverpool. One more triumph is all Manager Chester Brautigam's charges need to clinch the regular season title. A playoff among the initial four team sof the league may produce the locals other cup to put a grand ending to a great season.

Wednesday evening the Salem Polo Club will encounter probably the most outstanding opponent of the season when they entertain the University of Cambridge, England, polo team. The visiting poloists have faced most of the major eastern teams and played Poland Sunday evening on the Poland field.

The British team played hte Salem horses against Poland and for the first time played on a bare field. Poland won the contest by a single point, 11-10, but the Englanders kept the Poland outfit, leaders of the Penn-Ohio League, well in hand.

Wednesday the Cambridge lads will mount the Poland horses against the local poloists. Jim Pidgeon, Tony Sheen, Roy Bates and Willie Smith will ride against the young Englishmen.

Tonight the Indians open a four game series against the Yankees of New York with a twi-night doubleheader slated. It is the start of a 23-game home stand where the Indians of '51 rapped up 20 victories and dropped just seven. Maybe the long stretch this season will perk up the .551 winning average.

Last season at this time the Indians were holding a 52-35 record while they presently possess 49 victories and 40 losses, some 46 percentage points off last year's pace.

Little Leaguers

Sekely Ind. and Fisher's News Agency scored upset victories in Little League play last night when they whipped the Mullins Mfg. and National Sanitary in baseball contests at Centennial Park.

Sekely came through with two three-run innings to down Mullins, 6-1, while Fishers pushed avros two runs in the bottom of the sixth inning to whip Sanitary, 7-6.

Both Sekely and Mullins played the game with an error apiece but the former nine managed to collect seven base hits while Mullins was held to just three. Sekelys, who tallied three in the second and three more in the fifth, almost had a shutout but Mullins scored a marker in the top of the sixth inning after going scoreless for the initial five frames.

Phillis and Smith of Mullins and Sekely, respectively, led their teams with two hits apiece.

Fisher's Waiwoilo doubled in the last of the sixth with two outs and brought through the winning run. Sanitary, in losing the game, had forged ahead in the top of the sixth with a single run but lost the game in the bottom of the inning.

The losers scored a run in the opening inning but saw their lead fall when Fishers came through with four runs in the third frame. However, the Sanitary nine went ahead with a single run in the fourth and three in the fifth to lead, 5-4.

Fishers fought back for a run in the bottom of the fifth and to deadlock the score. Then came the valuable sixth frame when Sanitary moved ahead in the top of the inning and Fishers scored two in the bottom to win the contest, 7-6.

Covert and Adams tallied home runs for the losers and Snyder collected three hits in three trips to the plate. Hits were scarce for the winners as they only managed two, Waiwoilo's winning blow and a single by Cook. Sanitary collected six bingles.

Albert (Red) Schoendienst of the Cardinals led the National League in stolen bases (26) in 1945, his freshman year in the majors.

Feller, Gromek Get Tribe's Mound Duty

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two games that could turn the tide of the Cleveland Indians' 1952 pennant fortunes are scheduled tonight against the New York Yankees.

The Tribe has a game with the world champions Wednesday night and another Thursday afternoon, but these first two are the big ones.

Loss of both would deprive the Indians of a chance to cut anything from the league-leaders' five-and-a-half game margin during the series. If the Indians can win both ends of the twin bill, they retain an opportunity to sweep the series and cut New York's margin to a game and a half.

Shrewd Casey Stengel has his two best pitchers ready to throw at the Indians tonight—Allie Reynolds (11-5) and Vic Raschi (10-2). Cleveland will use Bob Feller (7-8) and Steve Gromek (5-3).

The Indians won over Chicago's Cubs 4-2 Monday at Cooperstown, N. Y., in the annual Hall of Fame game at Abner Doubleday Field.

Southpaw Dick Rozek, who has pitched only 44 innings with Cleveland in three seasons and has neither won nor lost a game, was the star. He held the Cubs hitless for the last three innings and fanned six of them.

A home run over the short left field fence, 297 feet from home plate, made Johnny Berardino the hitting star. The Tribe's utility infielder connected off Joe Schultz in the seventh to break a 2-2 tie. Harry Simpson and Joe Tipton also homered over the same fence in the fourth off Dick Manville.

Sam Jones, starter for Cleveland got credit for the victory. He allowed only four hits in six innings —one a homer by Tommy Brown over the left field wall in the fifth with Manager Phil Cavaretta on base as a hit batsman.

53 Players On All-Star Grid Roster

CHICAGO (AP)—One of the strongest collegiate squad's in All-Star game history today was fully mustered and ready to gird for the Aug. 15 clash with the Los Angeles Rams at Soldier Field.

All-Star Coach Bobby Dodd's roster was completed at 53 Monday and the squad the Georgia Tech mentor leads into training at Delafield, Wis., Thursday should bring bruising trouble to the champion Rams of the National Football League.

Size, speed and skill are packed into the collegiate contingent which was rounded out with selection of a fourth T - formation quarterback, stellar Bill Wade of Vanderbilt.

The array includes seven ends, 12 tackles, seven guards, three centers, six linebackers and 18 backs.

The fact Dodd has rounded up an even dozen tackles means the All-Star boss is keenly aware that the beefy pros like to settle their battles up front.

The tackle corps includes both All-America offensive choices, Bob Toneff of Notre Dame and Don Coleman of Michigan State, and the two defensive All - Americas, Jim Weatherall of Oklahoma and Bill Pearman of Tennessee.

In addition to Wade, the All-Stars have T-formation quarterbacks in Vito Parilli of Kentucky, Darrell Crawford of Georgia Tech and Michigan State's Al Dorow.

Offensively and defensively, the backs are tops, among them Vic Janowicz of Ohio State, Jim Dooley of Miami, Frank Gifford of Southern California, Johnny Karras of Illinois, Bobby Dillon of Texas, John Petibon of Notre Dame, Hank Lauricella of Tennessee and Bill Tidwell of Texas A & M.

Another Isaly Treat for CHEESE LOVERS
Good Old-Fashioned
Beer Kaese Cheese
Now you can get good old-fashioned Beer Kaese Cheese at Isaly's. Here's a special Wisconsin Cheese, developed with old-fashioned, slow aging and care. None of this fancy, new-fangled rindless "get-it-ready-quick" nonsense. In making good Cheese, there is no substitute for time and patient care.
This Cheese is rind-cured on shelves, salted and turned daily for as long as it takes to develop a just-right flavor and aroma. Try it. Have some tonight.

Democrats Split Three Ways Over Civil Rights Question

CHICAGO (AP)—A three-way split over civil rights—instead of the usual North-South division—developed among Democratic platform drafters today.

The 19 delegates assigned to rough out the party's presidential campaign principles began a marathon session to finish their task by Wednesday.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson of Washington, who usually votes with the Northern wing of the party, told this reporter he could not support a Senate anti-filibuster plank.

"I think it's dishonest to say we are going to do something that we know we cannot do," he said.

Sen. Herbert H. Lehman of Ne York, also on the drafting group, and Sen. William Benton of Connecticut and Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota have predicted adoption not only of a stronger racial relations section but also a plank calling for a change in Senate rules on filibusters.

Contend Rule Change Needed

They contend that until the Senate rewrites its rules there will be no chance of getting Congress to enact civil rights legislation.

At five days of public hearings before the platform group Southern Democrats, who bolted the convention four years ago on this issue, remained strangely silent.

Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, who did not bolt then and now is supporting Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia for the presidential nomination, said he agreed with Magnuson.

Sparkman also said he believes that Lehman and other Northern senators may be pushing the anti-filibuster issue in an effort to promote the presidential bid of Averell Harriman, who has backed their stand vigorously and publicly.

May Avoid Battles

Sparkman, Magnuson and several other members of the platform-drafting group told this reporter they believe a bitter convention floor battle could be avoided if the platform is written in general terms, avoid specific language that irritates the Dixie Democrats.

Magnuson said he believes there would be no great difficulty in getting agreement on broad statements favoring improved racial relations and opposing discrimination and lynching.

"I think we could even accept the 1948 plank again if we dropped some unnecessary terms from its preamble which mean nothing," Magnuson said.

He added the only way for Democrats to change Senate rules "is to elect enough senators to get them changed."

"Until you get that done there is no use promising people you can do so," he said.

Magnuson said he also believes there would be no serious opposition to a general statement about the need for Congress "to improve or facilitate the legislative processes."

"There is no question that they need improvement," he continued. "But this certainly is not the way to do it."

QUAKE RIPS THROUGH MOUNTAIN TOWN: 11 KILLED. Aftermath of the rumbling earthquake that rolled over the small town of Tehachapi, 80 miles northeast of Los Angeles, Calif., shows in the wreckage of an automobile and several buildings across the main street. The quake, second worst in California's history, killed at least 11 persons within the town and one on the outskirts, besides injuring scores of others.

Barkley

committed themselves "to a program and to candidates other than myself, which would give them greater control of the machinery and policies of the Democratic party."

At the same time, he added, leaders of certain large delegations who had been encouraging him "have found it expedient" to withdraw their support.

Barkley, a vigorous fighter who boasted that he never became tired in his life, dropped out of the Democratic presidential picture not long after a reliable report indicated President Truman likely will throw his support to Stevenson.

Barkley made no mention of the Illinois governor, who has insisted he does not want the nomination.

While Mrs. Pollard and others predicted the Kentucky delegation may swing its support to Stevenson, Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, who was scheduled to nominate Barkley, spoke angrily about "an undercover Stevenson faction."

Barkley withdrew from the race, Wetherby told a newsman, to prevent his "crucifixion" by a combination of labor and an undercover Stevenson faction.

"We could," he said, "have handled the labor situation alone.

"But when Stevenson came into the picture, there was nothing that we could do."

'Golden Lights' Seen Over Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP)—A control tower operator said today "golden lights" have been sighted over Cleveland, and on one occasion he sent an airliner to look for something that appeared on a radar screen.

George Beers, senior operator on the midnight shift of the control tower at Cleveland Hopkins Airport, said "one night six of us watched from the darkened tower room while a light hovered north of the field. We don't know what it was but all six of us saw it.

"Another time I personally saw a light making a circular pattern over or near Elyria. I picked it up on the radar screen and watched it

"I sent an incoming airliner over to take a look and the thing disappeared from the screen."

On another occasion a tower operator and an incoming pilot both reported seeing a "light" that 'climbed and traveled in an easterly direction much faster than the normal operational speed of any aircraft known to be in this vicinity,' said Beers.

Elephant, Bus Collide; Vehicle Is Wrecked

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP) — A city bus collided with an elephant here Monday night, and the bus came out second best.

The elephant, one of a herd returning from Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus grounds to a train loading point, just wagged its tail and walked on. The bus, its front door dented and twisted, windshield broken and door smashed, was towed in by a wrecker.

Police and circus officials admitted the match was an even contest-both the elephant and the bus weigh eight tons.

Edgar E. Davis, 31, of Youngstown the bus driver, suffered a sprained forearm. There were no passengers on the bus which was returning to the garage.

Steels, Motors Sag On Stock Market

NEW YORK — Steels and motors sagged today in a stock market that otherwise was well mixed along a fairly narrow price lane.

Trading was at a very quiet pace—less than a million shares for an entire day.

The steel and motor divisions lost fractions. Railroads were highly mixed and had some wide movers.

Higher stocks include Standard Oil (NJ), Dow Chemical, International Paper, and Goodrich. Lower were Republic Steel, Chrysler, Union Pacific, Sears Roebuck, and Westinghouse Electric.

United Corp. sold one block of 10,000 shares off ⅛ at 5⅛.

Convention

Moody may be eyeing the vice presidential nomination.

The rule was gaveled into existence by Gov. Paul Dever of Massachusetts, the temporary chairman, after piercing complaints by Southern leaders that it would put them in the position of violating their state laws or party organization instructions.

Five states with 110 votes toward the 615½ needed for the presidential nomination would be affected directly. They are Virginia, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana.

All of these five have laid out machinery with which they could bolt the national ticket if they don't like the nominee or the platform.

Texas, with 52 votes, seemed seemed likely to go along with the Moody rule. Gov. Allan Shivers said it doesn't conflict with state laws there, which he said require that the people get a chance to vote on the national party's nominees.

But the five other delegations called strategy caucuses. There were indications they might decide individually or collectively to defy the rule's requirement that the chairmen of the delegations certify the loyalty "assurance."

No one seemed to know what the next move might be if that occured.

The Moody rule's adoption forecast the later approval by the convention of a civil rights plank so strong in its terms that the Southerners would have another reason to stride angrily out of this almost-leaderless convention.

But the growing possibility that the reluctant Stevenson would wind up with a presidential nomination he has said repeatedly he doesn't want laid something of a restraining hand on the bolt threats.

There was indisputable evidence that the Dixie members regard Stevenson rather fondly as a "kissin' cousin" who may not always agree with them on such principles as are involved in the civil rights proposals, but as a candidate who would be reasonable about his differences with them.

Vice President Alben Barkley's abrupt exit from the presidential scramble last night strengthened the draft - Stevenson movement, which has been nurtured on the convention floor by such able strategists as Jacob M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman.

There wasn't too much doubt in anyone's mind that these delegations were moving toward Stevenson. Even New York's 94-vote group, the bulk of which has been committed to Averell Harriman, showed signs of wavering.

This put Stevenson under more and more compulsion so far as the nomination is concerned. He has said he wants only to run for re-election as governor of Illinois and has urged delegates not to put him in nomination.

But when he signed off for a few hours sleep early today, he referred newsmen to Matthew 26:39 of the Bible which says:

"O, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me. Nevertheless, not as I will but as Thou wilt."

The Stevenson boom had a spontaneous air but it gave some politicians the impression that there was more behind it than met the eye.

Sen. Guy Gillette of Iowa, a die-hard Barkley supporter, said he knew what was going on because a dozen button-holing Democrats had been around to see him about the possibility of dredging up some Stevenson votes among Iowa's 24.

"An attempt is being made to stampede this convention for Stevenson but I don't think it will work," he declared.

Other veteran party leaders had different ideas.

Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico told a reporter:

"I think Stevenson's name is going in the pot and he is coming out the winner."

Jonathan Daniels of North Carolina, a former aide to President Truman who tried unsuccessfully to compromise the "loyalty" rule fight, said: "I think Stevenson is the nominee."

Former Sen. Scott Lucas of Illinois said Barkley's withdrawal would speed up the Stevenson draft. Former Sen. Francis Myers of Pennsylvania said the movement for the Illinois governor was "something that grew up from the floor" after Stevenson's welcoming speech to the convention yesterday

The governor got a nice hand — the best thus far in a convention.

The Stevenson movement was so hot that backers of some of the other candidates were beginning to sound out the possibility of climbing aboard the bandwagon in second place.

Although Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee claims the most committed delegates, some of his strategists were saying that perhaps it might not be a bad idea to maneuver him into a position where he could move quickly toward the No. 2 place.

But a Cabinet member who didn't want to be quoted by name told a reporter he thinks Kefauver cut his ties with the South in helping sponsor the Moody 'loyalty" rule.
